

- Q Julia Bishop (researcher)
Q2 Alex Hetherington (researcher)
A Serena (mum)
B Kawsu (dad)
C Mallison (6)
D Essa (4)

A Minecraft never came from home, the sort of Minecraft is played at school. So he used to come home from school talking about Minecraft and it was from his friends, so he kept saying 'I want this Minecraft, I want that Minecraft, mummy, that's Minecraft, that's Minecraft' and I kept saying 'I know'. But as it got closer to his birthday I knew it was something he kind of wanted so we bought him a lot of things that were Minecraft. We bought him the game, I bought him a top, I bought him some socks, some pyjamas, you know, just a lot of different things with Minecraft on. But then when he actually came to play the game that was like the first time he actually properly had a go, he'd got this assumption that he loved Minecraft because it had come from school and everyone was Minecraft but actually when he did it himself he didn't like it because he said....I think, was it a spider coming to get you?

C Yeah.

Q2 A spider, blimey that's scary.

A This spider was coming to get him. And it's day and night on it so it was like dark the spider was coming towards him.

C Yeah, and they're ginormous aren't they? They're just ginormous.

Q2 And big red eyes.

A He didn't like it, no.