This could be a nice thing (much like scented candles), but would require someone to be there with the person for safety reasons. I would worry about my friend trying to use it when someone wasn't there and the potential for it overheating or burning.	2	Violet Tiger	Aug 31, 2020, 02:09 PM
Certain oils can be toxic to pets so you would need to be aware of this. Also some deffusers need a lit flame and this creates a potential risk requiring the carer to be present. I have found that plug in deffusers work well and can be left on for many hours.	2	Purple Cat	Jun 30, 2020, 04:56 PM
